

MOTIONCURE

*

Motioncure is the dancer's anthem. When words obscure, limbs will speak. The power of movement draws us closer to understanding how and why we feel.

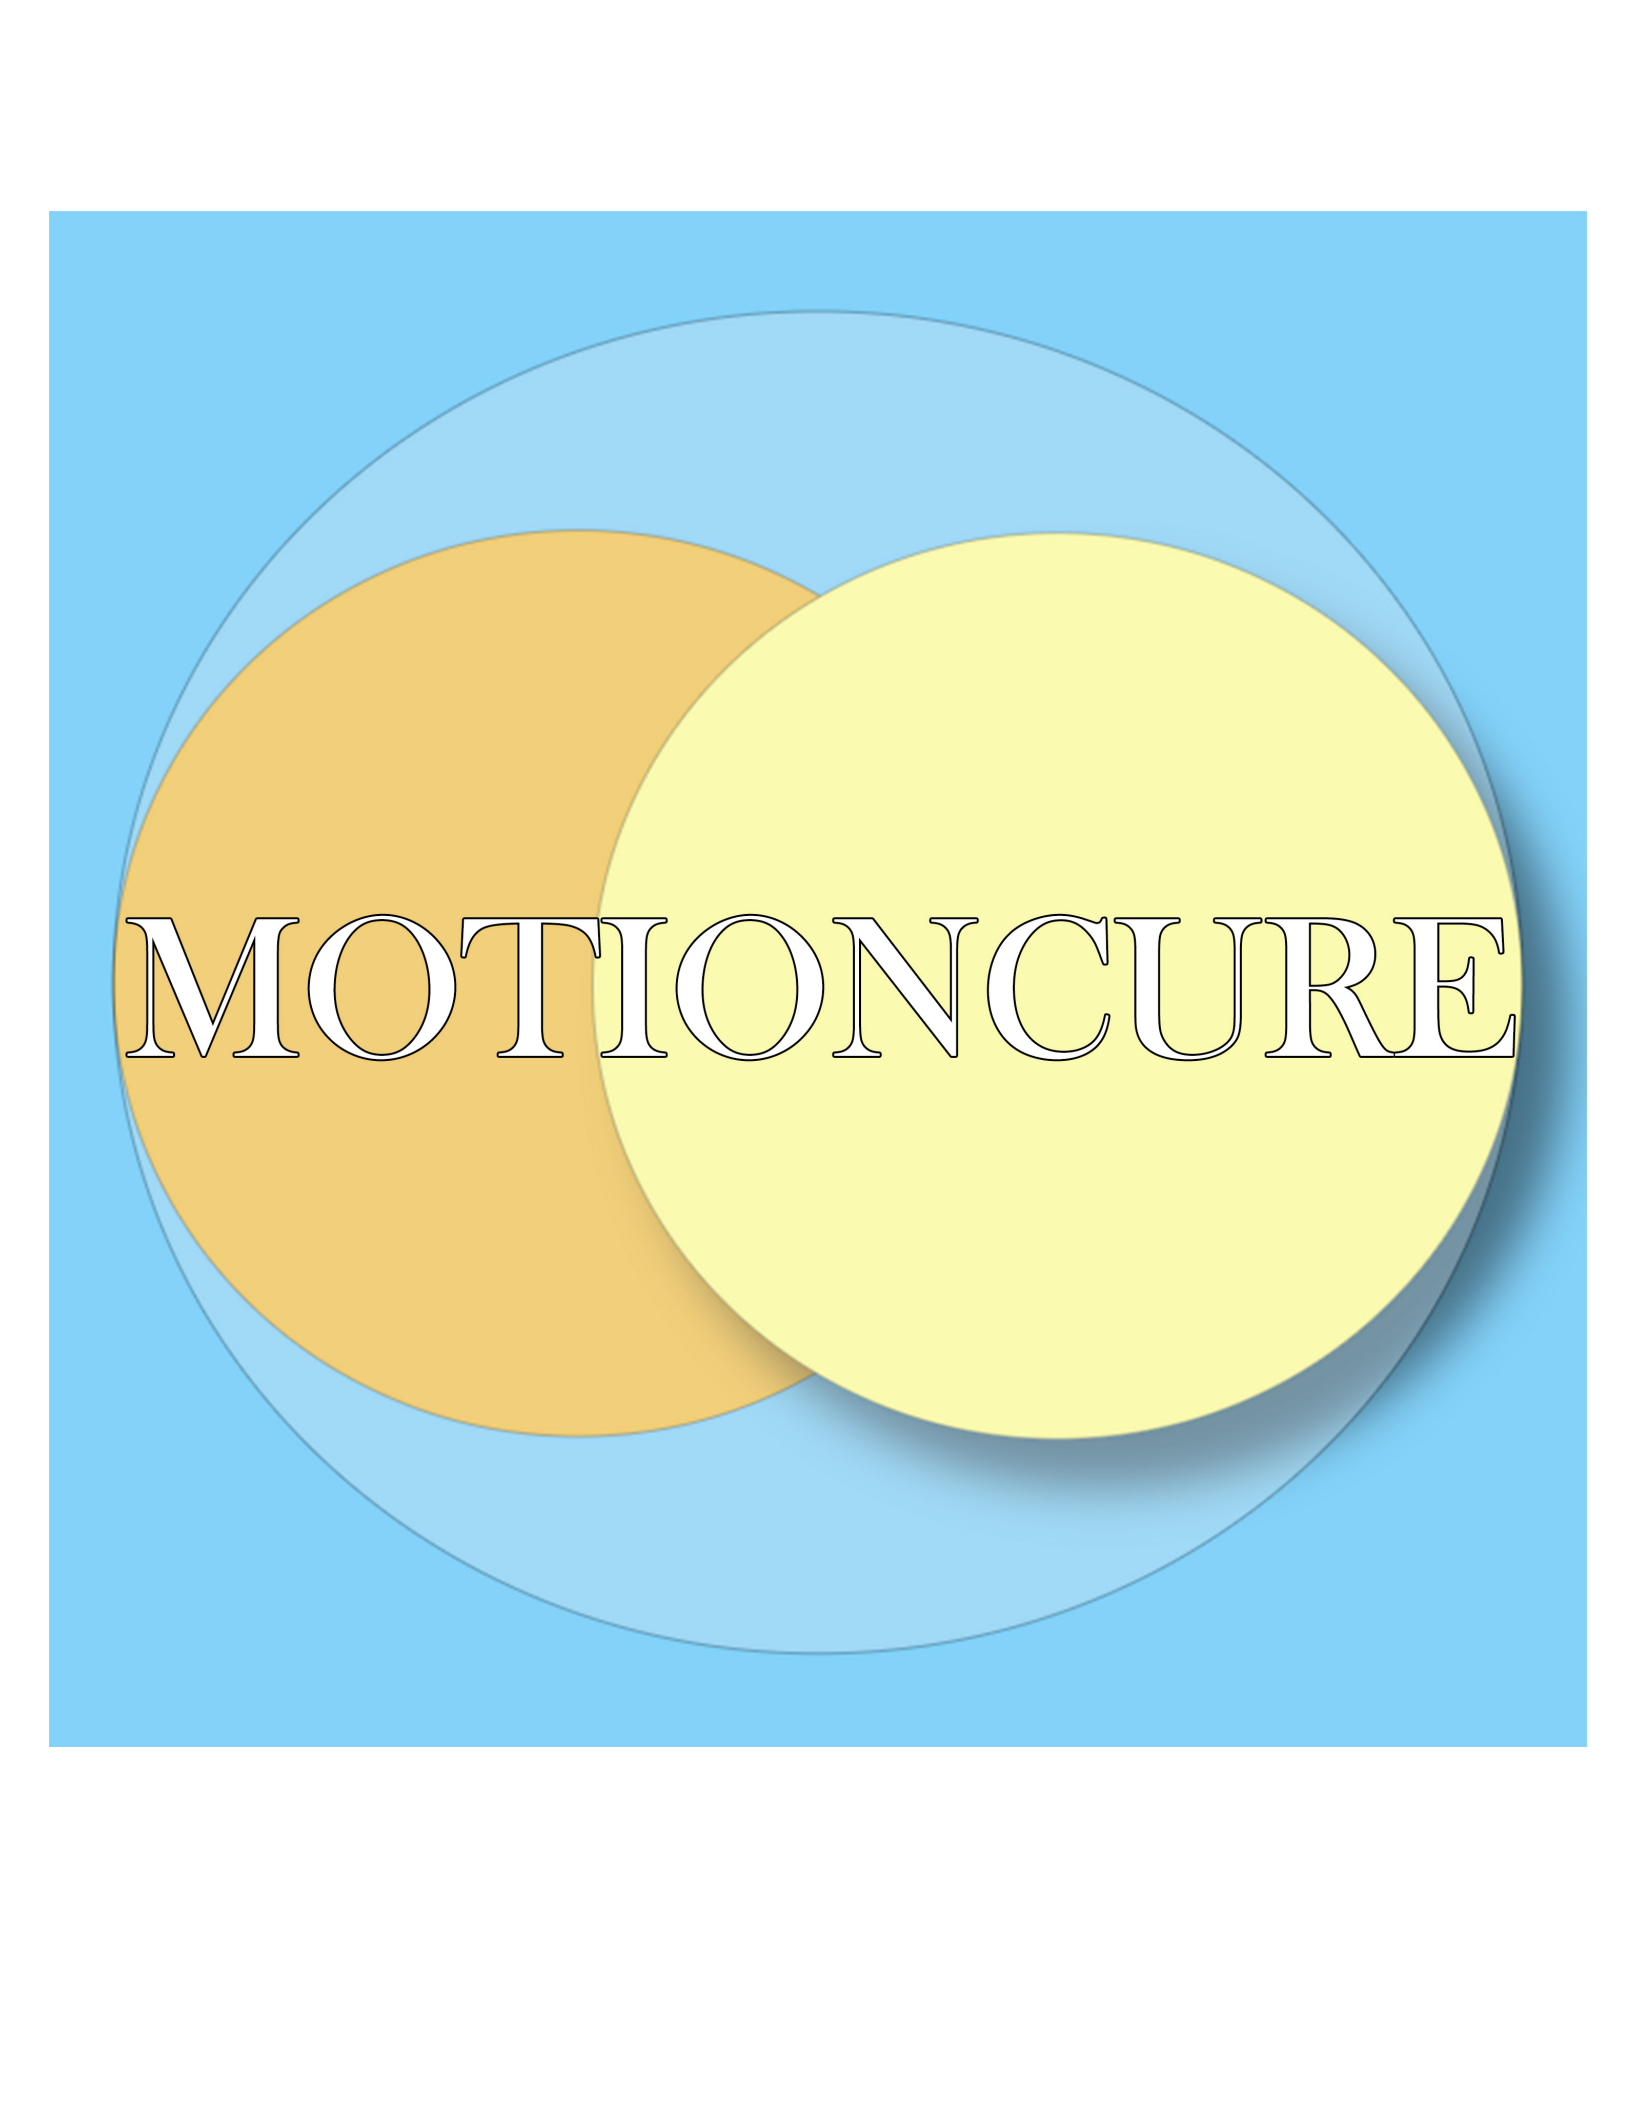

*

wondering, you said to me I cannot heal you
I don't need the help
I said to you
I just got to move

neither rhyme nor reason can help explain why we can't relate what our limbs can say it's the pulse you feel in this electric sphere

you can trust the beat it picks you right up and out when you need
walk it out and lean
you know what you got
do your thing

we are more than bodies every push and pull
a story of our own

The image features a light blue background with a large, semi-transparent light blue circle. Inside this circle are two overlapping circles: an orange one on the left and a yellow one on the right. The text 'MOTIONCURE' is centered horizontally across the overlapping area of the orange and yellow circles. The text is white with a thin black outline and is set in a classic serif typeface.

MOTIONCURE